

THE AO STORY

Today About Objects continues to work closely with major enterprise clients on microservices architecture, agile adoption, mobile and IoT development, and AI and machine learning.

2017 About Objects begins offering microservices training.

2016 About Objects named Apple Mobility Partner.

2015 Apple features About Objects app developed for Marriott in the Apple Watch keynote address.

2014 About Objects named Google enterprise partner.

2012 About Objects begins working with other major enterprise customers engaged in digital transformation, providing solutions that incorporate middleware, mobile, cloud, connected device, and wearable platforms for such industries as:

- Retail
- Professional Sports
- Sports Entertainment
- Hospitality
- Pharmaceuticals

2011 About Objects begins working on world's largest mobile healthcare initiative on iOS, Android, and cloud, including high performance/high availability architecture.

2010 About Objects is one of four entities worldwide officially recommended by Apple for organizations contemplating iOS development.

2009 About Objects begins offering iOS training.

2007  ABOUTOBJECTS

About Objects founded to offer consulting and training services, reuniting 'dream team' of top technologists.

NeXT is launched.

1985

1990

Future About Objects team members begin developing full-stack, mission-critical enterprise applications on the NeXT platform for Fortune 500 financial and telecom companies.

Java is released.

1995

2000

1998

Google is launched.

1997

Future About Objects team members begin developing world's first transactional, enterprise web applications on NeXT's WebObjects platform, in Objective-C, and later Java.

Apple / NeXT merger announced.

2001 Mac OS X (an evolution of the NeXTSTEP operating system) is released.

